"It's Terrible!" "It's Wonderful!" Merchants Disagree On Ocean Avenue Traffic Proposal

The proposed Community Baseball Field is located on the Carmel High School grounds south of the football field. Realizing the vital need for a baseball field and additional tennis courts in the community, the Carmel Lions Club is working in cooperation with the Unified School District to make this a reality. A brochure is being prepared and will be in the mail shortly to make this project community wide.

To help finance it the Lions Club has leased the vacant lot bounded by Junipero, Seventh, Mission and Ocean for a parking lot. Wet weather has delayed putting this lot in shape. Signs, coin boxes and other things are ready to install. This lot will be officially ready for parking in the next ten days. There will be no attendant on the lot. It will be operated on a donation basis with all money being given to the Community Baseball Field Fund at the Bank of Carmel. A basis for your donations at the lot is, Hourly 10 cents, Daily 50 cents and Monthly $5.00. It is expected that all wishing to use the lot on a monthly basis will sign up with any of the following, James Burgess, Burgess Service Station; Mike Balazs, Quality Market; Dale Leidig, Leidig Service Station.

A $1000 was raised for the project in December through Christmas tree sale of the Kiwanis and Lions Clubs. Members of both organizations gave up time from their businesses during their busiest season to act as Christmas tree salesmen. Two men were conspicuous in their devotion, Walt Pilot, with whom the idea originated, and Ed Neroda. Members of the Carmel Youth Center assisted.

John Shephard Candidate For State Senate

John N. Shephard, Monterey attorney, has announced his candidacy for the office of state senator in the June primaries. A Republican, he is seeking his first public elective office.

Mr. Shephard, who has been a resident of the Monterey peninsula since 1947, was appointed as deputy district attorney and served for two years, 1948 and 1949, under Superior Judge Anthony Brazil, then Monterey county district attorney. He is a member of the bar of the supreme court of the United States and of the United States court of military appeals. He also is a past president of the Monterey County Bar association.

In addition to his legal work, Mr. Shephard currently is serving as disaster chairman for the civilian defense of Monterey and in a similar capacity for the Red Cross in all peninsula communities with the exception of Carmel. It has its own.

The candidate is a native of Idaho, born February 5, 1912, and moved with his family to San Jose at the age of eight. He completed his elementary and high schooling there in 1930, then received his AB degree from Grinnell college, Iowa, in 1934. The following year he was given his masters degree from Wharton School of Business at the University of Pennsylvania.

Prior to returning to the University of Chicago for his doctorate in law, Mr. Shephard worked for three years in Los Angeles and New York, spending his time in the administrative and executive divisions of large insurance companies.

He served for three and one-half years in the United States Army, advancing from private to the rank of captain.

Pine Cone Survey Gets All Shades Of Opinion

The closing of Ocean Avenue to automobile traffic was the most startling recommendation of the Citizens Advisory Committee in their report on master plan policy which was presented to the Carmel Planning Commission January 18.

To learn the reaction of the proprietors of Ocean Avenue business establishments, the Pine Cone took a sampling of opinion up and down the street that would be affected if the Citizens' Committee recommendation goes in to the master plan.

Miss Margaret Lial, owner of Lial's Music Shop on the north-eastern intersection of Monte Verde and Ocean, the western terminus of the proposed restricted area, had this to say: "I think Ocean Avenue would be quite beautiful converted to a boulevard—but I feel it is very unfair to expect merchants to stay in business, and to pay the taxes they are required to pay, unless very careful consideration is given to the problem of parking close to all business establishments affected by the proposed traffic restriction. Let the Citizens' Committee get busy and find a parking area down here so that parking is equalized at both the western and eastern length of Ocean Avenue shopping area. In that event only would I approve of the conversion of Ocean Avenue into a promenade."

Harrison Godwin, owner of the Pine Inn, said he had not had an opportunity to study the committee's findings but: "Offhand, I don't believe the plan necessarily would have an adverse effect."

Frank Flynn, proprietor of Boots & Saddle, on Ocean between Lincoln and Dolores: "Without examining the plan in detail, I'd be inclined to say 'no' to closing off Ocean Avenue to car traffic. It's hard to tell whether the restriction would benefit the shops most affected. No one can say in advance how people would react to parking their cars, and then walking five or six blocks to reach the center of the Village." But he added that he would be open to suggestion, and agreeable to studying the merits of the recommended change.

Charles H. Rayne, owner of Derek Rayne, Ltd., on Ocean between Lincoln and Dolores, like Miss Lial, recognized the scenic advantage inherent in the plan, but, "I haven't studied the question, but I would be willing to hazard a guess. It's capable of being an improvement, also of being a detriment, depending upon how it is handled. The whole thing wants careful study. The devil you know is better than the devil you don't know." Mr. Rayne stressed the obligation of shop owners concerned—in the event the plan goes through—to accept responsibility for the appearance of the restricted boulevard. "It would be up to us shop keepers to see that the closed-off street was attractively landscaped," Mr. Rayne continued. "It could be made a concourse, perhaps with covered overhead ways, to achieve the effect of a parade area. I

Jury Disagrees In Kulish Trial For Manslaughter

There was a hung jury in the trial of George K. Kulish, 42, on manslaughter and felony charges arising from a fatal two-car crash on November 8 which resulted in the death of Mrs. Aurelia (Mickey) McDonald of Carmel and injury to Mark Raggett.

The jury voted 8-4 for conviction on the manslaughter charge and 7-5 for acquittal on the felony (drunk driving) count. Jury members debated for five and a half hours before returning the results of their deliberation to Superior Court Judge Anthony Brazil at 11:00 o'clock last night.

The case will come up again for the re-setting of a trial date on Tuesday, according to Ernest Schmidt, deputy district attorney, prosecutor in the case. Date for re-trial will probably be in March. John Muller was defense attorney. Mrs. Ruth Sarett was the only Carmel member of the jury.

Mrs. McDonald, secretary of the grand jury, and Raggett, member, were returning from a grand jury meeting when the accident occurred on the highway near the Salinas River bridge.

Burkholder Beams Over Carmel Returns For March Of Dimes

The Mother's March on Tuesday night netted $1441 for the March of Dimes campaign in Carmel and ended the most successful year in the history of the Polio Foundation's fund drives in this area, according to James C. Burkholder, this year's general chairman. In charge of the Mother's March was Mrs. Roderick Clayton, assisted by Mrs. Oliver Hallett, Mrs. James Pruitt and Mrs. James Campbell.

Complete returns will not be compiled until April, when all mail contributions will have been received, said Burkholder.

The square dance sponsored by the Taw Twirlers group at the High School on Saturday night took in $415, which also included money from the bidding on original Dennis the Menace cartoons, donated by Hank Ketchum, Bill O'Malleys' gift of two books of cartoons, and the original of an illustration of a story for the Saturday Evening Post given by Donald Teague.

"Related To Walden?"

BY EDWARD A. NEILAN

Armed only with my boomerang, clad in blue denim trousers and a poplin jacket, and with my trusty steed, Chevrolet, beneath me, I set out the other weekend to decide whether I liked Carmel Valley better in the summer or in the winter.

And after a day's touring and snooping around, I concluded that it was no contest. Winter had won, hands down.

At the outset I was convinced that the Valley was anticipating St. Patrick's Day. The hillsides were all dressed in tailored green coats, and not a conservative green either. White-faced Herefords and California oaks gave a pattern to some of the hills.

On the valley floor an aroused Carmel River, brown with silt, dead wood and clay that it had stolen miles upstream, made its way as relentlessly as time itself toward the sea. This was not the clear, meandering and complacent Carmel River of summer. I had never met this fellow before, this determined force that would not be detoured by mere boulders. It rushed past as if it were late for an appointment down at the Pacific Ocean.

The first stop on my junket was Camp Steffani. In summer it is characterized by leafy sycamores, warm sand and the laughter of youthful swimmers in and alongside its dammed-up ponds. Last July this place had struck me as being the inspiration for that bit of Americana known as "the old swimming hole." Now the ponds

THE SPORT WHEEL

Here is good news for Carmel women who are interested in some exhilarating gymnasium activity to improve the figure and keep in topflight condition. Sponsored by Chuck Dawson's Adult School, regular gym classes for women are slated for the Carmel High gym each Monday night from 7:30 to 9:00 o'clock. From 9:00 to 9:30, participants will have an opportunity to take part in gymnasium games to taper off from the strenuous physical fitness routine. Physical education instructor, Gyla Smith from the University of Montana, promises an interesting evening for all participants, assures everyone of a good workout, doesn't positively guarantee to improve the figure but does promise not to hurt it. Further information may be secured by calling Chuck Dawson, Adult School Principal, at 7-6483 or 7-3020. These phone numbers are given so the husbands can check up to see whether the little lady is actually going for the exercise or skipping out to the movies.

How many of you basketball fans saw, read about, or heard of the famous stall engineered by the University of California against USF last Saturday night? The Bear coach Pete Newell out to win the game the best way he knew how stalled away ten minutes of the second half in order to be close enough to put on a do or die surge in the final minutes of the game. Even though behind by 5 points, Coach Newell still played cat and mouse with the potent Dons. That the strategy didn't work is a tribute to the terrific poise and championship play of Coach Phil Woolpert's USF Dons. This type of basketball isn't particularly pleasing to ticket-buying fans or television viewers, but it is a glowing tribute to Pete Newell and his Golden Bears for trying everything they could to upset Newell's old coaching buddy at USF. Basketball rule changers immediately began asking for the professional rule which requires a team to shoot 24-seconds after crossing the center line. If this rule is passed in college basketball, the zone defense will also have to be outlawed or the massed defense around the basket will force all teams to go for the long shots.

Big thrill of the local preps hoop season was supplied by little Jim Konrad last Friday night when he stole the ball from King City's reliable Frankie Padilla and dribbled the length of the court for the winning score. Jim made only three points in the entire game but those bigger digits were never marked up for the Carmel cause.

In keeping with basketball upsets in this area, Pacific Grove's oft-beaten varsity clipped Monterey, 47 to 45, in a game where shoulder pads and helmets should have been mandatory equipment. Body contact was the order of the night and the game was played from a prone position as much as it was from the upright stance. Pacific Grove lost its fine little guard, Eddie Estaban, via the referee's thumb and the Treadors had to get along without their top rebounder, Mike Maorian, for the same reason.

The Carmel Padres took on too big a chunk of basketball at Salinas Tuesday afternoon and lost three games to the Cowboys. Most interesting game was the varsity reserve tilt which Salinas won, 49 to 48. The Padre Firehouse Five dropped their first game of the year in this one, playing the last quarter with only four men. Too many fouls decimated the Firehouse ranks. The lights were clipped 49-35 and the varsity got the same treatment, 46 to 35.

In intramural basketball at Carmel High, the Faculty demonstrated that you can't beat education by downing the Seniors to take over first place from the fourth year lads. Sparked by Ken Weise and Moose Rainer, the pedagogues played crisp and precise ball to completely bewilder the Kyrk Reid-coached Seniors. Rugged rebound work of Oily Gere, Swede Jensen, and Wrecker Morlang swept the boards clean of rebounds and Seniors. The Mighty Sophomores kept in contention for the league lead by edging Bob Potter's Juniors, 52-50, as Art Wilkerson, John Stiles, and Fred Nelsen poured through the points.

CARMEL HIGH ONE GAME IN FRONT; HOST HOLLISTER FRIDAY NIGHT

B-Division Varsity Standing
	Won	Lost
Carmel	6	1
Gilroy	5	2
King City	4	3
Gonzales	3	3
Live Oak	3	4
Hollister	2	5
Pacific Grove	1	6

Clinging to a precarious one-game lead in the torrid CCAL B-Division basketball race, the Carmel High Padres entertain the Hollister Haybalers this Friday night and need a win to keep a jump ahead of the second-place Gilroy gang. While the Padres are trading baskets with the Haybalers, Gilroy tangles with the upstart Gonzales Spartans at the Gilroy gym. Gonzales has the equipment to make Gilroy squirm and will be fighting for their lives as another loss will throw the Spartans out of any consideration for the title. The race is so close now that it is possible for Gonzales, Gilroy, King City, and Carmel to finish in a tie for first place.

Coach Bud Pressley's Hollister crew gave the Padres a rough battle in the first round, Carmel just barely lasting to cop the decision. Since whipping Pacific Grove three weeks ago, Hollister has been a hot ball club capable of beating any team in the league. The Haybalers knocked off King City, 49 to 48, two weeks ago and Carmel fans well know the merit of the Valley Mustangs sparked by the fine outside shooting of Fred Silva and Gil Sanchez. Hollister is a tough team at defense and when their shooting is accurate opponents are in for a rough evening. Since Carmel's fly-paper defense has saved them in several of their recent games, Friday night's crucial league tilt will be a battle of the Hollister marksmen against the pressing Padre defense.

Improved outside shooting by the Carmel guards, Dick Jennings and Mike Mosolf, has increased the effectiveness of the Padre attack and should serve to open up inside shooting spots for center George Wightman and forwards, Jim Konrad and Bob Wise. B-League basketball experts are raving about the improved rebounding and terrific defensive play of Bob Wise, the lanky Padre forward. Bob has led the Carmel rebounders in the last three games and his determined play on defense has shackled some of the best players in the league.

Carmel's lightweight squad will be after league win number two against the second-place Hollister lightweights in a 7:00 o'clock game Friday night. The Little Padres have been taken over the bumps in many games this season but they haven't quit trying at any time. Outmanned, outrebounded, outsped, and outshot by every team they have been matched against, the Padrecitos haven't once been outfought this season. The scrappy little Carmel lads gave the Salinas lightweights a terrific battle last Tuesday and were in the ball game until the final minutes before being outscored. In the last meeting with Hollister, the Little Padres suffered from some officiating right out of the bleachers and the game wasn't a true test for either team. However, regular league officials will be tooting the whistles tomorrow night when the Hayseeds and Padrecitos square off in the Carmel basketball pavilion.

PADRES WIN DOUBLE-HEADER AT KING CITY

Carmel High School's lightweight and varsity basketball teams enjoyed their trip to King City last Friday as they twinned the host Mustangs in a pair of league games. Coach Buzz Rainer's hustling lightweights worked their way out of the league basement by downing the winless King City Ponies, 36 to 31, and the Padre varsity remained on top the varsity standings by a sensational, come-through victory over the second-place Mustangs, 35 to 38. This was win number one in league play for the Little Padres and they did the job in a cool and collected manner. Ahead from the early moments of the game, the Padrecitos opened a wide gap in the third quarter and turned the game over to the reserves. The Ponies surged a little in the fourth heat to close the margin but the Carmel limiteds hung on for the verdict. Ted Childers, Jack Faia, and Dale Dawson led the offensive (Continued on Page Ten)

Mrs. DeAmaral Gets A New Ford With A Soap Coupon

Who'd want to live anywhere but in the U. S.? Not Mrs. Frank DeAmaral of Carmel Highlands. At eleven o'clock last Wednesday morning, Mrs. DeAmaral, an inveterate entrant in prize contests since childhood, took possession of the 1956 Customline Ford V-8 Sedan which was her prize in the Lucky Lever Sweepstakes conducted last year by a soap company.

Julius L. Michael of Lever Brothers Company presented the $3,000 prize automobile to Mrs. DeAmaral at Beattie Motors, Inc., Franklin & Washington Streets, Monterey, local agency for Ford cars. Mrs. DeAmaral selected a two-tone coral-red and white car, with interior styled in charcoal and grey.

As a child Mrs. DeAmaral entered her first contest. She sold packets of flower seeds from door to door—but did not win the bicycle which was the prize. In succeeding years she entered every prize contest of which she heard. She never won. Last year, she received three soap discount coupons in her mail, along with an entry blank. All that was required was the filling in of name and address and the mailing of the entry blank to the soap company.

Mrs. DeAmaral was the only local winner, one of ten persons in the U. S. to receive 1956 Fords.

"Now I can stop driving my son Frank, Jr.'s car. He'll be so relieved," said Mrs. DeAmaral, sitting behind the wheel of her new Ford. When Lieutenant Frank DeAmaral, Jr. returns from Korea, where he is with the 19th Infantry, his mother doesn't expect to spend much time in her 1956 Customline sedan. Frank, Jr. will "borrow" it frequently.

Susie Raymond

Mrs. Susie M. Raymond died at her home in Hatton Fields yesterday afternoon after an illness of several months.

She first came to live in Carmel in 1947, one year before the death of her husband, the late Robert B. Raymond. They had previously made their home in Mount Vernon, New York. Mrs. Raymond was born in Canton, Connecticut, on July 22, 1880.

Survivors are two daughters, Mrs. Helen R. Lambert of Carmel, and Mrs. Louise Slott of West Los Angeles; and one grandchild.

Mrs. Raymond's family are requesting that instead of flowers, friends wishing to contribute to Mrs. Raymond's memory will do so in the form of donations to the Monterey Cancer Society Fund.

Private funeral services will be held tomorrow afternoon at the Dorney and Farlinger Funeral Home, Dr. K. Fillmore Gray officiating. Burial will take place in El Encinal Cemetery.

"Related To Walden"

had lost their identity to that aforementioned sprinter, the river, which moved ahead with unusual brusqueness.

The sycamores were naked now, but unashamed. And all around was the reflection of the steel-gray sky. To some, gray is a depressing color. On my canvas it shows up as a blending oneness, bringing everything together harmoniously, without a suggestion of sharp contrast.

Further up the Valley I turned off the road toward Cachagua and Los Padres Dam. The road was wet in spots from the recent rains but bordered by the ever-present green. That was stitched into the terrain everywhere, in great irregular patches.

The Los Padres Dam was spilling out gallons and gallons of water which gurgled and foamed over rapids below. Here the water was clean.

In a clearing near Prince's Camp, Cachagua, which is overrun with tourists in summer, I launched my boomerang several times. On the first try it whistled around in a 75-foot arc and whirled right back to me and I reached out and caught it. It had never flown—so well elsewhere on the Peninsula. Even boomerangs fly better in Carmel Valley, I found.

Along the road from Cachagua to Jamesburg, there were great quantities of stillness, quietude and the constant carpeting of green grass. Lazy smoke trails from ranch house chimneys and the rushing stream were the only movements here. Surely this place is related to Thoreau's Walden.

Hereford looked up from dinner to watch me pass on the highway heading back toward the village of Carmel Valley. A few fishermen were jousting with Mr. River but he was too swift for most of them.

I stopped at the White Oak Inn Art Gallery on the return trip, where Marion Wilson told me that even the art business is better in the winter in Carmel Valley. "More serious buyers, fewer 'lookers,'" the curator said.

CHILDREN'S THEATRE WORKSHOP

Will open in Carmel next fall under the direction of Charlotte Perry of Perry-Mansfield School of the Theatre, Steamboat Springs, Colorado. Auditions for 6 to 16 year olds will be held by appointment at Miss Perry's home on the Northwest corner of Casanova and 8th street.

Feb. 9th, 10th, 11th
3:30 to 6 o'clock
Tel. Carmel 7-7235

Children chosen through these auditions will be invited to take part in a children's theatre demonstration for the Symposium to be held by the Cherry Foundation on April 3, 1956.

Local Contractors Will Handle Kaiser Plant Expansion

Construction to "double the handling capacity of the Moss Landing seawater magnesia plant is to begin as soon as possible," Frank M. Cashin, vice-president of Kaiser Aluminum and Chemical Corporation announced yesterday. "The installation of new equipment and revamping of the Moss Landing plant facilities will be handled by local contractors," he also stated.

New equipment includes a new rotary kiln with a capacity of 150 tons of magnesia products per day, bringing total kiln capacity to approximately 375 tons a day.

Free Polio Shots In Monterey Wednesday

The Monterey County Health department will give the second of its local series of free Salk polio vaccine shot clinics on Wednesday in the Monterey County Building, 550 Calle Principal, Monterey.

Clinic hours will be from 8:30 to 11:30 o'clock in the morning and from 1:00 to 4:30 o'clock in the afternoon. Shots are available to children from six months old through 14 years. Each child must be accompanied by parent or guardian and be without colds or other illness.

Other clinics than the one planned for February 8 will be held by the County Health Department until the supply of vaccine from the Federal Government is exhausted.

"Come Unto Me" by Leslie Emery attracted my attention in the gallery. It was an inspiring theme and a familiar one. The hills and meadows and trees and rushing water of Carmel Valley in the winter had expressed that same theme to me all day, and every bit as convincingly.

OUR SEA OTTERS

Monthly meeting Monterey Peninsula Audubon Society Friday, February 3, Carmel High School Library at 8:00 p.m. Business meeting followed by a colored movie of the southern sea otters and talk by Richard Boolootian.

Merton Hinshaw of the Pacific Grove Museum says that Mr. Boolootian (hereafter called Mr. B.) knows more about these sea otters than any man alive. A graduate of Fresno State College he is studying at the Hopkins Marine Station and in his spare time teaches photography at the Pacific Grove adult school and also biology at Robert Louis Stevenson School.

That old cliché, "An expert is an ordinary man away from home" doesn't apply in this case as Mr. B. is an expert here and now on southern sea otters.

Friends and guests are welcome to attend this meeting.

REVIEWING "WILD AMERICA"
BY ROGER TORY PETERSON
AND JAMES FISHER. HOUGHTON MIFFLIN, 1955. $5.00.

A felicitous title for an extraordinarily interesting book! There is enough conservation material in it to fill half a dozen columns. It is a difficult task to boil it down to one.

Roger Tory Peterson is a name well-known to every bird student in the country. His field guides are their constant companions. James Fisher is his English counterpart. He came to America to join Mr. Peterson for a trip of one hundred days looking for new birds and spectacular scenery. Starting at Newfoundland, they worked their way down the East Coast to Florida, Texas, and northern Mexico, then up the West Coast to Alaska. They were busy with the field glasses and movie cameras all the time and their bird lists and comments on the scenery make fascinating reading.

Of local interest is their visit with the Monterey Peninsula's leading bird authority, Laidlaw Williams. About eight pages are devoted to their impressions of Point Lobos and Cypress Point. Laidlaw showed them sea otters and lions as well as some rare sea birds and Kenn Legge interviewed them for the Pine Cone.

Although this reviewer is familiar with most of the scenic features in the West visited by the authors, the different viewpoint of a visiting Englishman was always of great interest. Mr. Fisher was impressed with the magnificence of our national parks and forests. He was also impressed by our efforts to protect and interpret their scenery and wildlife, things which, he said, were "almost or entirely lacking in our own (British) national parks at present". He goes on to say: "Sometimes in Britain, these seem parks in name only, their boundaries unknown to the public, their dedication still haunted and their use abused by schemes for hydroelectric power

Tom Paul, bass, is a senior at Occidental College and is appearing as one of the soloists tomorrow night in the Occidental College Glee Club concert at Sunset Auditorium, 8:00 o'clock.

The program, sponsored by the Kiwanis Club to raise funds for their youth projects, sparkles with variety. Both men's and women's choruses will participate, singing individually and in combination, a capella and with instrumental accompaniment. There is a satisfying roster of soloists who will sing with the chorus and make up the cast for the Gilbert and Sullivan operetta, Trial by Jury, which will occupy the latter half of the program. It will be produced in costume, and with the rollicking verve that characterizes Gilbert and Sullivan musical nonsense and has endeared it to generations of light opera lovers.

and exploitation which they were supposed to be created to prevent".

The last 50 pages of the book describe their experiences on the Arctic tundra and on the Pribilof fur-seal islands. This was the climax of their trip in every way. The wildness of Alaska gave them such a thrill that when Mr. Fisher was later shown the beauties of Mount Rainier, the psychological let-down was so great that to him it was just another mountain.

His conclusions are worth thoughtful consideration. He asks himself: "What did I bring home from America—what was the most inspiring thing?" He questions whether it might have been the 401 new birds that he has seen, more than doubling his life-list; or the "searing vision" of the Grand Canyon, or the "other climaxes of scenic possibilities; Yosemite, Crater Lake"; or the biggest and oldest living things, the sequoias; or North America's oldest human inhabitants, the Arizona Indians.

He concludes that although these were important, the most important thing was his impression of "the New North Americans, and what they have done to North America in a few hundred years and what they have not done." Europeans, he says, have been given a wrong impression of America. They show us too little of their earthly paradise, and publicize too little their determination

Kiwanis's Quickie Flood Relief Drive

The Carmel-by-the-Sea Kiwanis Club is spearheading a brief drive of Peninsula organizations for their Club's Flood Relief Fund chest. President Don Adams states that much has been done for flood victims to relieve immediate suffering, but the need now is for funds to help the little man until Government loans and aid are processed.

Kiwanis International, through its California Secretary, Hotel Claremont, Berkeley 5, California, has the machinery set up to collect money and deliver it directly where it will do the most good. They are checking and cooperating with the Red Cross and other agencies.

Adams urges every citizen to make a contribution now, on or before next Saturday, to Flood Relief, giving it to his own group or club, sending it to Berkeley, or to Kiwanis, Box 1213, Carmel. The sufferers are our own neighbors, Adams points out and adds, "Let us aid them in their time of need."

Choir Preparing For World Day Of Prayer

The interracial interdenominational voice choir of the Monterey Peninsula United Church Women has started preparing for the World Day of Prayer under the direction of Miss Frances Louda of All Saints' Church, Carmel.

The 36th Monterey Peninsula World Day of Prayer observance will take place Friday, February 17, at Saint Mary's Church in Pacific Grove with the theme, "One flock, one shepherd". Mrs. T. C. Harris will preside at the morning service starting at 11:00 o'clock. Sack lunches will be eaten in the Parish Hall with the host church to share it with wild nature. They have had, and still have, the power to ravage it; and instead have made it garden".

What finer approval could be given to the dedicated efforts of the conservation groups of America! Let us hope that he is not patting us on the back too enthusiastically.

Statement of Principles

I will be a candidate for the office of State Senator in the June primary elections. By this declaration I accept the responsibilities and obligations of such declaration. Foremost of these are: HONESTY, INTEGRITY AND TRUTH. Upon these precepts, I state my fundamental principles:

I BELIEVE in a democratic form of government.

I BELIEVE in the theory and practice of the "separation of powers" doctrine of government.

I BELIEVE in government by legal process.

I BELIEVE in an economy based on capitalism.

I BELIEVE in private ownership of property, and the exercise by the individual of the rights and duties pertaining to it.

I BELIEVE that government is a servant, not a master, and that means a master of no one and a servant to all.

BUT—most of all I believe in FREEDOM and LIBERTY under LAW.

WITH ME, THESE BELIEFS ARE NOT SOME-TIME THINGS. Government cannot create, it should not destroy. Its function is regulatory, not administrative. It must have no favorites.

I want to know you and I want you to know me. I will meet you individually or in groups; however, I will respect your privacy and dignity and attend upon you at your convenience and desire. Will you please invite me?

FROM A LIBRARIAN'S NOTEBOOK

By Ruth Galvin Thornburg
The month of January marked the 250th anniversary of the birth of Benjamin Franklin. Librarians think of him especially as a great bookman and a vigorous protagonist of libraries. He started a subscription library in his own town, which must give him a certain kinship with the people of Carmel, because this library was first a subscription library also. Even if our staff were doomed to work in some other business, we would still think that libraries were wonderful places because where else but in a public library could everyone have access to thousands of volumes without delay and without expense.

Last week we again lost a popular book from the examination shelves. This time it was O'Hara's Ten, North Frederick. There were many names on the waiting list, so we hurriedly bought a second copy and put it up on the shelves with a new waiting list card. Toward the end of the week the first copy sneaked back. We found it on a chair back in the non-fiction stacks. We were most happy to welcome back copy one, and coordinated the two waiting lists, all the while wondering what type of mentality stoops to such shenanigans. We are thinking of posting a sign near the examination shelves which will make this request "If you must steal one of these books, please leave the waiting list behind". Either that, or give up the practice of putting books out for an examination period. The Monterey City Library gave it up some time ago. Too many books disappeared. The librarians decided that they had a better check on new books if they went directly into circulation. It seems a sad commentary on our human sense of responsibility these days.

Frank Slaughter has a new historical novel just out, which is entitled The Scarlet Thread. It is the story of Rahab, the woman of Jericho, and Joshua, the leader of the Israelites. It is said to be his most powerful biblical novel.

Richard Llewellyn has one called Mr. Hamish Gleave, with its story based on that of the "Missing MacLeans" who are supposed to have disappeared behind the Iron Curtain. This book does not seem so compelling as his How Green Was My Valley, but it is a good book none the less.

Another book with an English milieu is These Lovers Flew Away by Howard Spring. It is the story of three generations of life in a village in Cornwall.

Pierre LaMure, who wrote Moulin Rouge, has newly published Beyond Desire, a novel based on the life together of Felix and Cecile Mendelssohn.

A young woman named Gertrude Mackenzie went to Maine for a vacation and stayed to buy a general store and become a native. Her book, My Love Affair with the State of Maine, tells all about it in engaging fashion.

A group of Greek lyrics newly translated by Richard Lattimore adds to our poetry section. New Dimensions of Peace by Chester Bowles is said to be a cogently reasoned study of America's role in world affairs. Also in the field of world affairs is The Net that Covers the World by Edward William F. Russell will conduct Pomona College Glee Clubs in concert at Sunset Auditorium, 8:00 o'clock Monday night. The program is under the auspices of the Robert Louis Stevenson School at Pebble Beach.

Seventy-two members of the combined glee club will sing Brahms' Five Songs, Op. 104, work by Morley and Lassus and will conclude the program with Stomp Your Foot from The Tender Land by Copland. The Men's Glee Club, with 38 members, will sing four choruses from Patience by Gilbert and Sullivan and music by Gastoldi, Thompson, Silcher, Williams, and Bartholomew. The Woman's Glee Club of 34 members will feature three choruses from Alice in Wonderland by Irving Fine and will sing a Vaughan Williams selection.

Spiro. It is the inside story of the Communist espionage system all over the world.

Last mention this week goes to Conyers Read's new book, Mr. Secretary Cecil and Queen Elizabeth. This is the first really adequate biography of William Cecil, Lord Burghley, who was one of the most important figures in English history of the second half of the sixteenth century.

California Book Week comes the second full week in March. Keep it in mind because we are planning some special exhibits which will interest you, we hope.

The Time Hds Come .

By Kippy Suddart

Gardeners of this locale are of two minds about frost. Some want frost, others don't. The frost boosters are just as logical as the non-frost fellows; each has his point to make. Now, why would a gardener here want frost? The answer is insects. A good hard frost knocks aphids and his brothers for a loop. Winter months are the quiet months in gardens left to themselves, and this is the time that larvae of destructive insects get in their licks.

In 1948 we really had a lulu of a freeze. Everything went down and many valuable shrubs were lost. But, if the bug world had had a newspaper, banner headlines might have read like this: TWENTY MILLION KILLED! FEW SURVIVORS! POPULATION DESTROYED!

1949 was one of the cleanest years in garden history. It took a long time for the insect world to reestablish itself hereabouts, and all on account of a good stiff frost.

The other side of the picture. In 1948 the Monterey Peninsula lost almost all eugenias, that lovely, feathery shrub so suitable for hedges and specimen planting. They went down to the roots and few eugenias ever came back. Yet there were many flowers and shrubs that withstood the shock of deep frost. The dianthus family, of which there are over one hundred species, can stand all sorts of cold. Belonging to this family are carnations, clover pinks and sweet William. Petunias sailed through, still blooming; stock continued to flower vigorously; Jubilee gem, the dwarf corn flower thrived.

In the perennial field we lost many good shrubs. Aside from the eugenia, making me weep bitter tears, we lost Pittosporum undulatum, and passion flower, all over the place bit the dust. The list of shrubs that stayed with us is larger than those that were destroyed. Veronica, that reliable shrub, not only remained top-side-up, but can be planted close to pine trees and can hold its own against pine pitch.

Now why do you suppose I am back-tracking eight years in garden history? Because that famous black frost came to the Monterey Peninsula in the first week in February, 1948, and here we are, all over again, some period of our year. History has a way of repeating itself, and this is in the nature of a warning. If the forecast comes to us for a deep frost, for goodness sake get a petticoat on your eugenias, for they are the first to go.

Guess what stood the 1948 frost and chuckled? Our weeds, of course, and aren't they pretty this time of year?

Rinks Highlands Residents

Paul and Tina Rink and their two children, ~~Paul and Tina~~, have moved from Partington Ridge to Carmel Highlands until next summer. Paul is at present associated with John Nesbitt in the production of a television show for Bell Telephone Company.

Mrs. Harold Landreth returned to her home in Pasadena on Monday after a month's stay in Carmel as the guest of Dr. and Mrs. Remsen Bird.

Langston Hughes Here

Langston Hughes arrived here yesterday to spend a week with Noel Sullivan at Hollow Hills Farm, see old friends, and enjoy a well-earned rest from his literary work. Hughes is now living in New York and writing a weekly column for the Chicago Defender. He is also writing a series of books for young people, the two latest being Famous American Negroes and Famous American Music Makers. Published this year by Simon and Shuster was Sweet Flypaper of Life, a book of photographs by Roy DeCarava with the literary continuity written by Hughes. He is also the author of Not Without Laughter and The Big Sea, his autobiography, besides other books and numerous poems, some of which were first published in the Pine Cone during the time he was a frequent visitor here.

Organ Society Meeting

The Hammond Organ Society met on Sunday in Pacific Grove at the home of Mrs. J. B. Sorenson, Dr. B. J. Balcar presiding. B. Bender of Liverpool, California, former student at the Frankfort music college in Germany, was the first artist on the program playing Bach selections. This was followed by Mrs. Harold Landaker playing music of Purvis and Debussy. Lighter music was presented by Mrs. Peggy Aitkenhead and Mrs. William Skowran and by Mrs. Jean Canada who sang selections from Schuman and Schubert. Next meeting of the group will be in the Carmel Woman's Club building on February 29 when Porter Heaps of Chicago will be presented in an organ recital called Pointers for the Home Organist, open to the public without charge. Guest tickets may be obtained by phoning 7-4390.

Matthews Visit Williams

Dr. and Mrs. Frank Matthews of Olympia, Washington, and their three daughters, Sylvia, Emeline and Elinor, stopped in Carmel last weekend to visit Laidlaw and Abbie Lou Williams. The Matthews were on their way south for a six weeks' vacation in San Blas, Mexico. Laidlaw and Frank were schoolmates in New York City and both started a lifetime interest in birds when, as boys, they played in Central Park in New York City. Dr. Matthews, although maintaining a medical career, still keeps up his interest in ornithology, and is looking forward to several weeks of bird study in Mexico.

Pat Finley Vacations

Patricia Finley, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. James R. Finley, arrived home yesterday from Pomona College where she is in her second year of majoring in an international relations course. Pat brought with her a fellow sophomore, Marilyn Martin, of San Pedro, who will be the guest of the Finleys for spring break of a week from studies at Pomona. Also driving home with Patricia was Jeannie Dutton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fletcher Dutton of Pebble Beach, another sophomore at Pomona.

Millers Fly East

Author Henry Miller and his wife, Eve, flew to New York on Wednesday of last week called there by the serious illness of Henry's mother. Plans for the Miller's return to their Partington Ridge home are indefinite.

Dr. Charles N. Pearson of Carmel was elected to the board of directors of the Central Coast Optometric Society last Thursday evening at a meeting held at Cademartori's restaurant. He will hold office for one year.

MPVS Flower, Home Show

The Seventeen Mile Drive home of Mr. and Mrs. Noel J. Poux, originally built for Templeton Crocker, will be opened to the public for the first time on the afternoon of February 23 when the Monterey Peninsula Volunteer Services will sponsor a benefit for the Carmel Foundation.

More than a score of local women, noted for their artistry in flower arrangement, will create decorative effects throughout the spacious interior of the modern Byzantine residence, with its carved ceilings and doors, marble and mosaic floors, and views of the coast. Mrs. Roy Page is in charge of the affair assisted by Mrs. Marshall Bond, Mrs. Arthur Dresser, Mrs. Gerritt Van S. Henry, Mrs. Edward P. McMurtry, Mrs. James H. Parks and Miss Margaret Prosser.

Arrangements to attend the showing of the house and flower arrangements may be made by telephoning Mrs. Parks, 7-4163.

Metcalf At Woman's Club

John C. Metcalfe will be the speaker at the meeting of the Carmel Woman's Club to be held on Monday afternoon at 2:00 o'clock, according to president, Mrs. Rhea Dively. He will give an analytical presentation of the problems behind the scenes in Washington entitled Where Are We Going In World Affairs?

Metcalf is executive editor of the Metcalfe News Agency and former reporter on world affairs for the New York Herald Tribune and Time magazine. He and the late Bert Andrews of the Herald Tribune first revealed the secret Yalta agreements.

The committee serving tea at the close of the talk consists of: Mrs. Charles Berkey, Mrs. Ella Harris, Mrs. May Hare, Mrs. Robert M. Brown, Mrs. Paul Coleman, Mrs. Barry Holm Jones, Mrs. Frank Wilkinson and Miss Mary Margaret McIntire. Pouring will be Mrs. Mildred Curtis and Mrs. Barbara Murray.

Richardson Selects Tartans

Dick Richardson of the Casual Shop is spending this week in Vancouver, British Columbia, looking at tartans, and making selections for new spring clothes at his store. He will be back in Carmel on Sunday.

Benefit Fashion Show

Introduction To Spring is the theme of the Fashion Show to be presented by the local branch of Guide Dogs For the Blind Association at Del Monte Lodge on the afternoon of February 15.

Ruth McElroy and David Eldridge will act as commentators for the show which will follow the annual meeting of the association emceed by Eben Whittlesey. Special guests of local members will be Mrs. Walter F. Heller, former president of the Guide Dog groups in the Western States and William John, director of the San Rafael training school of the association. Clothes presented in the show will be from Littler, Inc.

Nancie Home, Plans Made

Nancie Veit, daughter of Mrs. Howard Veit and of the late Mr. Veit, returned to Carmel on Monday after five weeks in New York with plans made for her wedding to Thomas Fitzpatrick. The wedding will take place in Carmel Mission in a nuptial mass to be held at 11:00 o'clock in the morning on April 7, Monsignor Michael D. O'Connell officiating.

For her attendants Nancie has chosen Deborah Kneeder of Chicago as her maid of honor. Bridesmaids will be Elizabeth Bacon and Jane Bond. Junior bridesmaid will be Nancie's sister, Patricia, and she will be given in marriage by her brother, Howard Veit, Jr.

While in New York shopping for her trousseau and wedding dress, Nancie was the guest of her uncle, John Addison Bennett.

Frank Elton Leaves Carmel

Frank Elton, president of the World Affairs Council on the Monterey Peninsula, flew East on Monday to New York where he will spend two months training for his new position, area representative for the Rheems Manufacturing Company in the Middle East. The Rheems Company makes oil drums and other products for the shipping of oil from the Middle Eastern oil fields to other parts of the world.

Mrs. Elton will join her husband in New York at the end of the training period and together they will fly the Atlantic for two weeks in Europe before continuing their flight to Beirut, Lebanon, where they will make their home. As soon as they have found a home in Beirut they will be joined by their children, Rosemary and Frank, Jr., five year old twins, and Bunny, their three year old daughter, who will remain here with their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Goodfellow until the Eltons are settled in Beirut.

The Eltons hope to return to Carmel after two or three years when they have their first leave, and, says Mrs. Elton, "Frank will have lots to tell the World Affairs Council about the Middle East."

Gray Is President

Gray Burnham, daughter of Mrs. A. Carol McKenney, spent her between-semester vacation from the University of California having her tonsils removed, and then, all recovered, returned to college this week to finish her senior year and assume her duties as president of Kappa Kappa Gamma sorority on the campus. This spring Gray, as president of the Kappas, will attend the national convention of the sorority in Marblehead, Massachusetts, and she is very excited about her future trip to the East.

Rob Roy McGregor Wed

Beverly Mae Sullivan of San Francisco and Lieutenant Rob Roy McGregor, son of Colonel and Mrs. Thomas McGregor of Pebble Beach, were married in Fort Mason Chapel on January 22.

The couple spent part of their honeymoon on the Peninsula and are now at White Sands, New Mexico, Rob Roy's new station.

Both the bridegroom and his twin brother, Thomas McGregor, III, attended Carmel High School before leaving for Japan where they graduated from the Yokohama High School before going to the United States Military Academy as members of the class of 1953. Thomas is at present stationed at Fort Benning, Georgia.

NEW POLICE OFFICER

Charles Miller began work as new day desk officer in the Carmel Police Department yesterday morning.

He has just been released from the service, stationed with Army Intelligence at the Presidio of Monterey. He is 26 years old, married, and has two children, Richard, two years old, and Sharon, three and a half months.

His former home was Seattle, Washington, and he plans to bring his family to live in Carmel.

School Poets Published

Dick Williams, Gail McKenzie, Pat Elston, Alice Williams, Nancy McKay, Dan Richardson and Terry Shames, all students in Raymond Gere's Carmel High School creative writing class, have poems included in this year's anthology of the California district of the National Essay and Poetry Association.

Joy Ware Back At School

Between semester vacation ended for Joy Ware, daughter of the Harlan Wares on Tuesday morning when she left to return to her studies at Redlands University after a week at home.

Carmel Foundation Notes

On Wednesday Herbert Heron will talk at Carmel Foundation Town House, taking as his subject The Forest Theater, its brilliant past, its present activities, and its hopes for the future. All interested persons are welcome. The talk will begin at 3:00 o'clock and be followed by tea.

On February 7 a new exhibition will be opened at Town House, paintings by William C. Watts of Carmel.

Carmel Unincorp. To Mark Time On Fire District Project

"The Citizens' Committee Report has affected the thinking and planning of the three fire commissioners appointed by the County Board of Supervisors for the Carmel Unincorporated area," according to James Pruitt, one of the commissioners.

Pruitt told the Pine Cone yesterday that the Unincorporated group, meeting tomorrow night in the Bank of Carmel would consider "standing by" until the policy of the City Council "jells" in regard to the recommendation of the Citizens' Committee report that the Council consider all aspects of annexation of adjacent areas. Before the publication of the findings of the Citizens' Committee the Carmel Unincorporated area was planning establishment of their own fire protection unit for their district, which now depends on county fire protection. If Carmel City Council should decide, after study, that annexation of outlying areas were feasible and desirable, the city would then provide fire protection for the Unincorporated area, which definitely affects any present plans of the residents, as Pruitt stated.

FINAL PERFORMANCES OF TOBIAS

Tobias and the Angel will enter its sixth and final weekend tomorrow night at the Golden Bough Circle Theatre. The play has already hung up an off-season attendance record of more than two thousand people. It is a charming adventure comedy based on the Book of Tobit in the Apocrypha, expertly acted by a cast of favorite Peninsula players. Performances at 8:30 o'clock tomorrow, Saturday and Sunday.

Eliseo Requiro

Eliseo Requiro died on Friday morning in a Salinas hospital following a long illness.

He was born on March 18, 1887, in the Philippine Islands and came to Carmel to live in 1943. He was employed at Whitney's Restaurant and lived on Dolores Street near Ninth.

Survivors are his wife, Olive of San Francisco; a nephew, Plaridel Macahilig of Carmel; two nieces, Filipina Macahilig of Carmel and Rebecca Requiro of San Francisco; and two grandchildren, Tessie Rene Requiro and Elis Dits Requiro of Carmel.

Rosary was said on Sunday evening in the Dorney and Farlinger Memorial Chapel. Graveside rites were held on Tuesday afternoon in the Monterey Catholic Cemetery.

Blanche Miller

Mrs. Blanche Hewell Miller died yesterday afternoon in a local rest home after a prolonged illness.

She was born on July 28, 1875, in Modesto where she lived most of her life until moving to Palo Alto several years ago and to Carmel one year ago. Mrs. Miller was a member of the D.A.R. in Palo Alto.

Survivors are three daughters, Mrs. Eliot M. Jones of Los Angeles, formerly of Carmel; Miss Marian Miller of Honolulu; and Mrs. Arabella Laporta of Pacific Grove.

Private inurnment will take place this afternoon in the Little Chapel-by-the-Sea Crematorium, Paul's Mortuary in charge of arrangements.

Sporting Notes —

thrust for the Carmel lights with all three hitting a good percentage of their shots.

The Padre varsity made the most amazing comeback in Carmel basketball history as it wiped out King City's five-point lead in the final 45 seconds to win the crucial league tilt. The Mustangs broke in front and stayed from 5 to 9 points ahead until the last hectic minute when the Padres made their determined rush for the win. Taut, tense, and blowing the easy layups in the first half, Carmel appeared out of contention as the Mustangs left for the intermission with a 19-12 lead. The third quarter was a replica of the first half as the Padres continued their cold shooting and the Mustangs hit enough to keep a comfortable lead. George Wightman hit on enough jump shots around the key to keep within hailing distance of the blue and white gang but Carmel couldn't close the gap enough to be dangerous.

Carmel's leach-like defense began to tell on the Mustangs in the last quarter as the hurried King City shots proved easy pickings for the Padre rebounders. Holding the blue and white to three points in the final period, Carmel began its winning surge by closing up to five points with a minute left. Mike Mosolf hit with a jumper to close the margin to three points. George Wightman made good on a free throw, and Dick Jennings banged through the deadlocking points with a nifty one-hander from 30 feet. A fine defensive move by Jim Konrad stole the ball on King City's downcourt move and Little Jim drove in for a lay-up to put the Padres in front for the first time, 34 to 32. Jim was fouled with four seconds left and made one of his two chances to make the final score, 35-32. The excellent defensive play of Bob Wise, Mervyn Sutton, Jim Konrad, Mike Mosolf, Tom Peyton, George Wightman, and Dick Jennings was a vital factor in Carmel's winning cause. King City's high scorers, Frankie Padilla, Joe Cozby, and Aubrey Woods, were effectively checked by the tenacious Padre defense and gave the red and grey a chance to put on their brilliant stretch drive.

HEARING ON EITHER SEX DEER SHOOT FOR MONTEREY COUNTY

The Department of Fish and Game has adopted a tentative policy for a 3-day either sex deer shoot the last three days of the regular coast season.

Of the counties comprising Region III, only Mendocino, Lake, and Marin have been left out of this proposed program.

Various suggestions and requests for a possible shoot of this type have been received by the Department from Farm Bureaus, Cattle-men's Associations, and Sports-men's Clubs. In order to consider all phases pro or con of such a shoot from interested persons, the Regional office is holding three meetings south of San Francisco prior to any hearing by the Commission.

One of these meetings will be held at 8:00 o'clock in the evening in Salinas, February 23, Board of Supervisors' Auditorium, County Courthouse.

CHURCHESCHRISTIAN SCIENCE SERMON

Divine healing—healing through spiritual means alone will be a topic dealt with at Christian Science services Sunday in the Lesson-Sermon entitled "Spirit."

Luke's account of Christ Jesus' healing of the "woman which had a spirit of infirmity eighteen years, and was bowed together and could in no wise lift up herself" (Luke 13) will be included in the readings from the King James Version of the Bible.

Correlative passages from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy will include the following (316:7): "Christ, Truth, was demonstrated through Jesus to prove the power of Spirit over the flesh — to show that Truth is made manifest by its effects upon the human mind and body, healing sickness and destroying sin."

The Golden Text is from Psalms (143:10): "Teach me to do thy will; for thou art my God: thy spirit is good; lead me into the land of uprightness."

would like to see the street given a homogeneous appeal, with planned exterior features in the way of planting, over-all landscaping, and the like." Mr. Rayne emphasized the need for most detailed consideration of the distance of parking areas from Ocean Avenue.

Taking a sharply divergent view was Mrs. Sybell Faul, owner of an infant's and children's apparel shop on Ocean, near Dolores. "I think the plan is terrible—it's going to take shopper traffic to other streets, and direct customers into shops on those streets." It was Mrs. Faul's view that customers, required to park blocks from Ocean Avenue, would be inclined 'to shop' and browse in stores on the route to the Ocean Avenue stores in the restricted area. She felt that the people of Ocean Avenue would be put to a competitive disadvantage.

Mrs. Virginia Burk will be doubly affected if Ocean Avenue is restricted to foot traffic only. She owns the Carmel Wine Shop on Ocean near Mission, and is co-proprietor, with Ralph Castagna, of the Carmel Drug Store, on Ocean near Dolores.

"It's agreeable to me if they make it interesting—as they do in Williamsburg, Virginia," she stated. "To a certain extent it may direct some business to where the parking is. However, I believe that people here will order more by telephone; we will increase our deliveries, and the tourists, as they have always, will stroll along Ocean Avenue, whether it is restricted to foot traffic or not. If it's going to improve Carmel—create a very attractive scenic promenade—I would prefer that—making the town lovelier, rather than making a few extra dollars."

Walt Pilot, owner of Pilot's Market, Ocean near San Carlos: "It would be wonderful... make Carmel even more unique... give the pedestrian the right-of-way... more freedom to visit, relax, enjoy the beauties of the Village." Mr. Pilot was one of the few Ocean Avenue businessmen who admitted to having given the plan much thought. He feels that improvements should include center landscaping, garden areas with benches where pedestrians could rest and greet their friends. "It won't hurt the 'quick' shoppers, once they become accustomed to it," Mr. Pilot said. "The gift shops will increase their business because the tourists will have more freedom and leisure to buy."

He added that the elimination of auto traffic on Ocean Avenue will not banish the delivery trucks which, of necessity, must carry wholesale level merchandise to stores with only Ocean Avenue frontage. It is his suggestion that such deliveries be restricted to certain hours of the morning. He believes, too, that the parking areas which may be created should be landscaped, surrounded by rustic fences, and carefully controlled so that they do not become eyesores.

Most important, Mr. Pilot feels the urgency of time in the matter of Carmel's growth. "If the city won't buy land for parking lots, the merchants must incorporate, and buy it themselves," he asserts. "The longer the city waits, the less chance it will have of obtaining property for parking areas. Plan now. Don't wait five or ten years," says Walt Pilot. "If they wait, they'll find themselves trying to set up parking lots in residential areas."

The viewpoint of the landlord came from Mrs. Mary Goold, who owns several rental properties on Ocean Avenue, including the Goold Building between Ocean and 6th on San Carlos and the Standard Oil Service Station property on Ocean and San Carlos. "I think it's crazy," said Mrs. Goold. "We have a nice public park—let them use that. Why close off Ocean Avenue? It would ruin the trade of stores on the street, affect property owners as well as tenants." Mrs. Goold was born near Carmel Mission, and with her late husband owned the first stage line operating between Carmel and Monterey, during the early years of this century. "We pay very high taxes here on Ocean Avenue," she asserted. "I've paid a lot of taxes in my time. I think they should consider the needs and the feelings of those of us who have helped to build and support Carmel." She suggested that owners of businesses on Ocean should provide off-street parking for their employees' cars, thereby leaving more space for tourists' cars. Mrs. Goold, however, was forceful in her opposition to any plan which might convert Ocean Avenue into a promenade or parkway. She did not feel that the aesthetic values gained would in any measure compensate for the serious harm she felt the transition would bring upon Ocean Avenue business firms and property owners.

Frank Putnam and Mark Raggett, co-owners of the general merchandise store of that name on Ocean between San Carlos and Mission Streets, greet the plan with approval.

Frank Putnam is chairman of the Carmel Planning Commission, which has received the recommendations of the Citizens' Committee but not yet indicated whether it will approve them in whole or in part, and what its comments will be when it passes them on the city council.

Putnam's comment: "I think it will be wonderful to retain some of the charm of Carmel, and I don't think it will hurt the retail business at all. People don't shop in an automobile. Foot traffic is what stimulates retail business. The plan will create ambulatory traffic in a highly scenic area. The retailers in Carmel are not running drive-ins."

His partner, Mark Raggett, agreed. "I feel it is an excellent idea. It would be understood, of course, that careful and sensible planning would provide off-street and adjacent parking. It is a matter of substitution—remove parking on Ocean Avenue, but replace it—close by and conveniently—elsewhere." Mr. Raggett stressed, too, the advantages of Ocean Avenue as a landscaped scenic area where beauty of surroundings would be an added inducement to shopping.

James Rowe, proprietor of The Village Shoe Tree, on Ocean near San Carlos, had this to say: "If it's good for the people who come here—if it's more convenient for them—then it's good for the merchants. Retail buying is 'impulse' buying," Mr. Rowe explained. "Tourists like to stroll. Walking along Ocean Avenue is part of any week-end or visit to Carmel. The strollers are important to businesses on the street." He believes that his regular customers will not consider it any disadvantage if they are required to park a bit beyond his store.

George J. Fortier, owner of Fortier's Drug Store, at the corner of Ocean and Dolores: "I haven't given it enough thought to make recommendations at this time. It's a big step to take, and it should be given adequate consideration. How well parking is planned should determine the practicality of the plan."

Mrs. Rose Brown, whose knit-wear shop is located adjacent to the Pine Inn lobby: "I don't think it's a good thing to close it off entirely. I am in favor of solving it by requesting the regular residents to park elsewhere—leave the space available to visitors." Like most others interviewed, however, Mrs. Brown did not discount entirely the values of the suggested restriction. She believed that the undesirable aspects of the recommendation could be compensated for by intelligent planning.

"I'm in favor of it," stated James C. Burkholder, owner of The Village Cleaners, Ocean Avenue between San Carlos and Mission Streets. "It's closed anyhow in summer. You have a situation where all available parking space is occupied at almost any hour. My people have to park three or four blocks away now. They carry in their clothing, pick up the finished cleaning, and walk with it back to their cars. With Ocean Avenue closed off entirely the only difference would be they'd have assured off-street parking to go to. My estimate is—it will change the situation only for the better."

Miss Marian Adams, with her partner, Miss Florence Smyth, operates The Corner Cupboard, on the corner of Ocean and Dolores: "It might be a shock in the beginning. It will change the flavor of the entire street, give a different atmosphere." But she is not opposed to the new plan, provided adequate consideration first is given to the elements which will constitute its success or failure.

William T. Mahar, whose shop faces on Ocean as well as on Las Tiendas Court, said, "Yes, I believe people would shop on Ocean Avenue as usual. I don't feel it would hurt business. Tourists like to walk the streets; that's part of the charm of Carmel. Local people would patronize us anyhow, coming to us, as they have for years. I don't think the closing off of the street would affect us one way or the other."

Joseph E. Bileci, whose Mediterranean Market is on the corner of Ocean and Mission, drew a parallel between Carmel and Continental cities. "Abroad people walk on the sidewalks, not in the street," he stated. "It is the same here. Eliminate parking, not traffic. People like to drive along Ocean to the beach. That's part of every tourist's Carmel trip. Don't take the privilege away. Let them drive on Ocean Avenue, but arrange for parking elsewhere."
